Update – ElectraNet power outage

ElectraNet has advised site access issues have caused delays to the restoration work taking place on the Eyre Peninsula’s transmission network. It is now anticipated that transmission supply will be restored tonight.

We will commence restoration of power supply to customers once the transmission supply is restored. It is likely that damage to the distribution network will mean some customers will be without power overnight.

All available crews have been mobilised to assist in the restoration effort.

Stay away from downed power lines and report via 13 13 66.
